Hector Cat About Town
Notorious Gossip

"Why is it you don't get married?" said the pretty girl of her dancing partner. "Were you crossed in love?"

"No, I was never exactly disappointed in love, but when I was very young I fell in love with a very jolly girl. I was afraid to tell her of my feelings, but at length I screwed up my courage to the proposing point. I said, 'Let's get married.' And she said, 'Why, who'd have us?'"

(A Nobleman's Club has been founded in New York to express impostors who lay claim to European titles. This, it is said, will protect society hostesses; for all genuine princes, marquises and barons, will carry a "Nobleman's Card.")

Dear Baron you're too good to flatter
My ball with your presence to-night;
I've asked all the people that matter,
And I know quite a number by sight.
But before I proceed any farther
(You won't think me terribly hard?)
Perhaps on the whole I would rather
You showed me your Nobleman's Card.

Dear Baron, you're very romantic;
Your moustache is too thrilling, I guess.
But, before you sailed o'er the Atlantic,
Are you sure you were all you profess?
You have told us you dined with the Kaiser,
And danced with a Queen in Belgrade;
But will I be sadder, if wiser,
When you show me your Nobleman's Card?

I know you have been in the papers,
(And on the front page, I'll allow),
And cut some remarkable capers,
But things are more difficult now.
The impostor is finding it risky
To live as he used to: he's barred
From boosting a face-cream or whiskey
If he hasn't a Nobleman's Card.

What, Baron, you can't be offended?
Oh, dear, I'm afraid that you are!
You won't stop to tell us how splendid
You were when you rescued the Czar?
You are going? Was I too emphatic?
The life of a hostess is hard
But this is the Voice Democratic:
"You Must Have a Nobleman's Card."

TORCH LEAVES FOR GERMAN FRONTIER

Impressive Midnight Ceremony

("Hong Kong Daily Press" Special)

Prague, July 31.

The Olympic torch, carried by the Czechoslovak veteran of the first modern Olympic Games held in Athens, 1896, Honzako, arrived here shortly before midnight on Thursday. An altar had been erected on the big square in front of the town hall, where the sacred fire burned for over an hour, and speeches by Foreign Minister Krofta and other leading personalities enthusiastically celebrated the Olympic idea.

After the speeches a brief impressive memorial service for those who fell in the war was held, and at the conclusion the Czech and Slovak National Anthems were played. The Czech athletes then kept silent watch before the altar till 1 a.m. when the relay runner Plichta, who is taking part in the Berlin Games, lighted the torch at the sacred fire and started in the direction of the German frontier.—Transocean News Service.

ITALIAN PLANES CRASH

Bound For Spanish Morocco

ARMS CARGO ON BOARD

("Hong Kong Daily Press" Special)

Paris, July 31.

A three-engined Italian airplane, equipped with two machine guns and which is alleged also to have carried a cargo of arms and ammunition on board, crashed near Saidia in North Africa between Oran and French Morocco, according to despatches here from Casablanca, which add that three of the five occupants of the plane were killed instantaneously, while the other two were seriously wounded.

The same despatches report that another Italian transport plane with similar cargo crashed near Miliuya in French Morocco as a result of shortage of petrol. It is stated that the occupants of this plane have been arrested and conveyed to Bercane, the machine remaining meanwhile in custody of the gendarmes.

It is believed that both machines—neither of which bore any identification marks—came from Sardinia and that their destination was Melilla in Spanish Morocco.—Transocean News Service.

Official confirmation of this appointment, however, is lacking.

TRANS-ATLANTIC AIR SERVICE

Experimental Flights To Begin Soon

JOINT OPERATING COMPANY

London, July 30.

A statement on the proposed Trans-Atlantic Air Service was made at Commons question time by the Under Secretary for Air. Recalling the arrangements to which approval has now been given by the United Kingdom, Canadian, Irish Free State and Newfoundland Governments for survey flights to be undertaken and experimental Airmail to be established as soon as possible to be followed eventually by mail and passenger service on minimum schedule of two flights weekly in each direction and subsequently discussions with United States Government. Sir Philip Sassoon stated that a joint operating company incorporated at the instance of the Imperial Airways and two companies nominated for that purpose by the Canadian and Irish Free State Governments would participate with the Pan-American Airways on a basis of reciprocity in operation of services. All practical preference will be given to direct route via Irish Free State, Newfoundland and Canada, but it may be necessary during the initial period to operate the services via Bermuda during the winter months.

Experimental long distance flights and other necessary investigations will be carried out in the near future by Imperial Airways Limited and results will be placed at the disposal of the joint company when established. Pan-American Airways will also conduct experiemental flights.

During the experimental stage flying operation will be financed by the United Kingdom Government. When the joint company assumed the responsibility, it will receive an annual subsidy from the several Governments on an agreed basis. Each of the four Governments has undertaken to grant the necessary landing and transit rights within its own territory to the joint company and to the Pan-American Airways. It is contemplated that such rights will be exclusive in respect of Trans-Atlantic air services for a period of 15 years. Inter-governmental committee on trans-Atlantic air services will be established.—

SANCTIONS' EFFECTS

Debts Not To Be Cleared

ITALY ADAMANT

London, July 30.

The President of the Board of Trade was questioned in the House of Commons on the trade with Italy. Mr. Runciman replied "on terminat.on of Sanctions, His Majesty's Government opened discussions with the Italian Government for the resumption of Anglo-Italian trade. His Majesty's Government regard it as essential, the arrangements to be made, should provide for a settlement of the outstanding trade debts and they could not contemplate even a temporary arrangement which did not include such provisions." I regret to state that the Italian Government were not willing to accept any arrangement in regard to trade debts which His Majesty's Government could regard as adequate. Negotiations have been temporarily suspended."

Mr. Runciman went on to explain that as a result of the working of the severe restrictions imposed by he Italian Government on Imports from the United Kingdom and the regulations regarding the payment for Exports from Italy, such Exports to the United Kingdom other than fresh fruit or vegetable cannot be effected.—

VOLUNTEER RESERVE

New Unit To Be Formed

VITAL LINK IN DEFENCE

London, July 10.

The formation of a new Volunteer Reserve for the Royal Air Force was announced in the House of Lords to-day by the Secretary for Air. Lord Swinton stated the King had approved the creation of a Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve open only to men in civil life. The number of pilots required annually for the Volunteer Reserve will be 800 and as this section is most urgent, organisation is being proceeded with at once. Pilots will receive their flying training at Aerodrome centres which will be established immediately in the vicinity of important towns and areas with large population. There will be a network of such centres throughout the country with several in the neighbourhood of London. Ground instruction will be provided at town centres at which lectures on theory of flight, airmanship and other essential subjects will be given mainly during winter evenings when opportunities for flying are necessarily restricted. Volunteer Pilots will be recruited from candidates between age limits of 18 and 25. The minimum period of service will be five years. Flying instructions will be arranged to allow pilots to train at week ends in the evenings and at other times convenient to them. They will be encouraged to spend as much time as possible in the air in order to gain flying experience of value to the service. In addition the Volunteers will have to attend annual flying course of 15 days' duration. In the first instance pilots will be trained on elementary types of light aircraft and later on services types to enable them to operate in service squadrons in emergency. Arrangements are being made for the scheme to come into effect've operation early in 1937. Lord Swinton made an appeal for cooperation of employers to ensure full development of this important link in the defences of the nation.—

ENGINEERING AND BUILDING

COMPREHENSIVE HYDRAULIC PROGRAMME

Navigation, Irrigation And Flood Prevention

Nanking, July 10.

Flood prevention in China should go side by side with navigation and irrigation improvements in accordance with a comprehensive hydraulic programme worked out on reliable data and thorough investigations of the different rivers in the country, declared Mr. N. A. van den Heuvel, Dutch conservancy expert, who is the director of the National Hydraulic Laboratory of the National Economic Council, in a recent radio broadcast at the Central Broadcasting Station.

"Flood prevention may be considered as a defence against an enemy, whereas by regulating a river for navigation purposes and by using the water for irrigation, the river is no longer considered as an enemy, but rather as a servant," the eminent conservancy expert said.

Charged with hydraulic reconstruction duties the Hydraulic Department of the National Economic Council, according to Mr. van den Heuvel, is mapping out a general plan, covering all phases of flood prevention and navigation and irrigation improvements in the principal rivers in the country.

FLOOD PREVENTION WORKS

Discussing flood-prevention work, Mr. van den Heuvel remarked that this implies two principal phases; dyke-strengthening and reservoir-construction. Whenever the water of the river threatens to overtop the dyke, the dyke must be heightened. Or the water must be kept lower by draining it into reservoir lakes.

However, in the opinion of Mr. van den Heuvel, flood prevention constitutes only the negative side of the hydraulic plan for the improvement of a river. The positive side—navigation and irrigation improvements — should be none the less emphasized in order to make the river beneficial to the inhabitants along its banks.

Mr. van den Heuvel recalled that from olden times inland navigation formed the principal means of communication. Even now small canals and river channels form the only links between many villages and towns. "As water transport is much cheaper than any other kind of transportation, it is of great economic importance to improve the conditions of the waterways.

"Technically," Mr. van den Heuvel declared, "this means the building of sluices and ship locks in canals connecting the large rivers, which have to be so regulated that larger steamers may ascend them as far as possible. Urgent improvements of this kind concern the Hai Ho up to Tientsin, the Yangtze River up to Hankow and the Whampoa up to Canton."

PREVENTING FAMINES

Turning to irrigation, Mr. van den Heuvel said that "in an overpopulated country such as China a good irrigation system may prevent the ever-threatening famines." In the enforcement of the irrigation scheme, he suggested, the distribution of the water should be controlled by a district office.

Concluding, the Dutch expert pointed out that the hydraulic reconstruction programme in China can not be completed within a short time. The length of time needed may be viewed from the fact that the regulation of the Rhine, which discharge is only one-tenth of that of the Yangtze river, took 100 years to finish and the development of the irrigation system in the British, French and Netherlands Indies took more than a century.

MANILA WATER SUPPLY

P200,000 PROJECT SUBMITTED TO RESEARCH UNIT

Plans for the construction of a P200,000 high pressure covered reservoir for the Metropolitan Water District were submitted recently by Gregorio Anonas, manager, to the National Research Council for comment and recommendation. The plans were referred to the research Council for comment and recommendation. The plans were referred to the research council when the committee on construction and complaints of the water district, which was appointed to study the advisability of the plan, was unable to come to an agreement as to recommendations to be submitted to the board.

Edward Hyde, chairman of the division of sanitary engineering, National Research Council, is expected to submit his comment and recommendation, particularly on the engineering and sanitary phases of the project, within a few days.

The proposed reservoir is a reinforced concrete tank which will hold 10 million gallons of water, sufficient to supply the excess demand over the daily average during the forenoon hours. It will take the place of the present open San Juan reservoir which has a capacity of 56 million gallons.

THE REPORT

In a report to the Water District board, Mr. Anonas stated that the construction of the reservoir is economically justifiable. He estimated that the reservoir will net an additional revenue from water charges of P9,481.44 per year; that it will cause a saving of about P1,500 in operating expenses and that it will permit further extensions of mains in Caloocan, Malabon and Navotas which are estimated to yield an additional income of P4,000.

According to Mr. Anonas in his report, total income and savings, therefore, will amount of P14,981.44 representing 7.49 per cent on the investment. Deducting the savings in operating personnel, the percentage of yielding will further increase, it was stated.

The importance of having a covered reservoir was also pointed out. It was stated that the cover will maintain the water supply in the same condition of purity in which it leaves the purification plant by preventing the entrance of dust, bird droppings, leaves, soot and other foreign matter and by preventing the growth of algae. The covering will also eliminate frequent cleaning of the reservoir which means that the maximum storage capacity of the system is always available in case of a shutdown of the purification plant or the pump station. Several minor reasons were also advanced in advocating the necessity of a closed reservoir.

Asked why the present San Juan reservoir is not covered in order to effect the same advantage, it was disclosed Paul Mack, the former chief engineer and acting manager of the water district, estimated the cost of covering the San Juan reservoir at P500,000. It was further stated that it would not be justifiable cover the San Juan reservoir because it cannot supply sufficient water pressure to cope with the demand.

SCIENCE AND AGRICULTURE

THIS YEAR'S "ROYAL SHOW" IN ENGLAND

London, July 2.

Nearly a quarter of a century has passed since the Royal Agricultural Show was last held at Bristol, and great changes have taken place in agriculture since that date. Science has to a large extent brought about a revolution in methods, so that to-day the implements and machinery sections and the education pavilions vie in point of interest with the livestock exhibits The economic conditions of the last few years have compelled agriculturists, as never before, to take science seriously with the result that it is now better appreciated on its own merits.

It is instructive to compare the capabilities of the first motor plough shown at the Bristol Show 23 years ago with the modern Fowler "Gyrotiller," for example, which has introduced into Britain and many Overseas countries a revolutionary method of soil cultivation. By means of oppositely rotating tillers the soil is completely pulverized in one operation and has air literally beaten into it down to a depth of 20 inches, if required.

A new type of cultivator shown by Ransomes, Sims & Jefferies Ltd., is known as the Equitine, in which the tines are arranged on the compensating principle. All the tines are connected by a chain, and should any of them meet with an obstruction, they automatically clear themselves by swinging backwards and passing the obstacles. The other tines then draw them back into position, and work proceeds without interruption.

For the export visitor—and there were many, from Europe and most parts of the Empire—there were implements of special interest, the Solotrac single furrow tractor plough, for instance, for very deep work, the maximum side of the furrow being no less than 18in. wide by 18 in. deep.

EXPANSION OF ELECTRICAL EXPORTS

IMPORTANCE OF EMPIRE MARKETS

Two important facts which emerged from Lord Hirst of Witton's speech at the recent annual meeting of the General Electric Co., London, were that the volume of their total exports during the past year constituted a record in the company's history, and that the British Empire now absorbs over 75 per cent of the Overseas shipments. On the outlook Lord Hirst was optimistic, stating that, if peace prevails in the world, industry and trade within the Empire will proceed from strength to strength. He added that he was one of those who believe that peace will prevail for many years to come.

TEST LABORATORY

The high-power test laboratory at Witton completed during the year represents the latest type of equipment of this character in the world. For some time it had become evident that the rated rupturing capacity of circuit breakers, especially those protecting super-power stations, should be guaranteed by adequate testing. This can now be done by the short circuiting tests performed in this laboratory. Included in the plant is one of the largest generators ever built by this concern, which is capable of giving a normal short circuit output of 2,000,000 kv.a. at any commercial voltages up to 22,000 volts, the complete plant providing these facilities up to 132,000 volts.

Among the many orders for turbo-alternators received during the year was a third 62,000 kv.a. generator for the Birmingham Hams Hall Power Station, while turbo sets were sent to India, Canada, Australia, South Africa and South America, indicating the great headway electrification is making in those countries.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON SERMON

First Church Of Christ, Scientist

Subject: "LOVE"

The subject of the Lesson Sermon in all churches of Christ Scientist, to-morrow, August 2, will be "LOVE."

The Golden Text will be: "He that loveth not knoweth not God: for God is Love." (1. John 4:8).

Among others, the following citations from the Bible will be read "In this was manifested the love of God towards us, because that God sent his only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through him. Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins. For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved. He that hath received his testimony hath set to his Seal that God is true. For he whom God hath sent speaketh the words of God: For God giveth not the Spirit by measure unto him. The Father loveth the Son and hath given all things into his hand." (1. John 4: 9,10—John 3: 16, 17, 33-35).

The Lesson Sermon will also include the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:

Father-Mother is the name for Deity, which indicates His tender relationship to His spiritual creation. Jesus acknowledged no ties of the flesh. He said: "Call no man your father upon the earth: for one is your Father which is in heaven." His mission was to reveal the Science of celestial being, to prove what God is and what He does for man. Jesus established what he said by demonstration, thus making his acts of higher importance than his works. Jesus' teaching and practice of Truth involved such a sacrifice as makes us admit its Principle to be Love. This was the precious import of our Master's sinless career and of his demonstration of power over death. He proved by his deeds that Christian Science destroys sickness, sin and death. Our Master taught no mere theory doctrine or belief. It was the divine Principle of all real being which he taught and practised. His proof of Christianity was no form or system of religion and worship, but Christian Science, working out the harmony of Life and Love. (322: 4-5—31: 4-6—26.16—26: 21-32).

"THE FLYING SCOTSMAN"

London, July 7.

The non-stop runs between the Waverley Station, Edinburgh, and King's Cross, London, were resumed for the summer months yesterday. When "The Flying Scotsman" left Edinburgh at 10 a.m. Mr George Mills divisional general manager for the Scottish area of the L.N.E.R., was on the platform, and conveyed his best wishes to the locomotive men.

The company on the platform also included Mr G. A. Musgrave, locomotive running superintendent; Mr T. B. Maitland, solicitor; Messrs R. Gardiner, superintendent, and George Segg, passenger manager, Southern Scottish area; and Mr George Robertson, stationmaster.

The Flying Scotsman was due in London at 5.15 p.m., the journey taking 25 minutes less than the usual run and 15 minutes less than the previous non-stop run. There were 12 vehicles on the train, and the load would be between 450 and 500 tons. Driver W. J. Walker and Fireman J. Barick took the train as far as Tollerton, where they were relieved for the remainder of the journey by Driver W. Payne and Fireman F. Challis.

LONDON TO ABERDEEN

The London to Edinburgh non-stop train was due to leave King's Cross at 10 a.m., and to arrive in Edinburgh at 5.15 p.m. The Waverley Station was reached a minute or two ahead of time. After a stop of some ten minutes the Aberdeen portion left sharp at 5.25, and was due to reach Aberdeen at 8.23.

The journey from London to Aberdeen of 10 hours 28 minutes is 62 minutes less than any previous scheduled time.

The express completed its first accelerated run at Aberdeen last night one minute ahead of schedule time, and was met by the city magistrates, Councillor W. P. Milne, the president of Aberdeen Chamber of Commerce, Mr J. M'Phail Massie, and Mr James Sangster, representing the Aberdeen Incorporated Trades. Bailie J. D. Munro, the senior magistrate, shook hands with and congratulated Mr J. Balsillie, aberdeen, the driver, and Mr J. Canthan, Aberdeen, the fireman.

The weight of the train was 310 tons, and it was brought into Aberdeen by the locomotive "William Whitelaw" of the Pacific type.

THE WOOLWICH EXPLOSION

Experts Evidence At Inquest

CAUSE NOT ESTABLISHED

London, July 11.

A verdict of "Accidental death" was recorded at the inquest at Greenwich yesterday on the bodies of the five men who were killed at Woolwich Arsenal on Wednesday when an explosion completely wrecked a building in the Research Department during an experiment with a high-explosive shell.

The dead men were:—

Commander P. A. M. Long, 45, of 5 Hollybush House, Sevenoaks, Ordnance Assistant in the Armament Supply Department of the Admiralty;

Francis Charles Lewis, 41, scientist, of Commonwealth Way, Abbey Wood;

Jack Brignall, 26, laboratory assistant, of Somerset Avenue, Welling;

Stanley Herbert Cooper, 41, leading factory hand, of Raglan Road, Plumstead; and William Edward Johnson, 43, factory hand, of Spring Street, Deptford.

The Coroner was Dr. W. H. Whitehouse, Coroner for the South-Eastern District.

Mr. Hubert Hull, instructed by the Treasury Solicitor, represented the War Department.

A 15-INCH SHELL

Commander Harold Robert Priston, Deputy Superintendent of the Research Department at Woolwich Arsenal, said that the explosion occurred about 2.45 p.m. in the cruciform building at the Research Department during the filling of a shell with an explosive. It was a well-established process which was being slightly varied for use in different explosives. A 15in. shell was being filled. The operation was being conducted in a special building surrounded by a mound so as to protect the remainder of the department in the event of a possible explosion. The building was specially constructed with a view to minimizing the result of such an explosion.

The Coroner.—So that in the event of an explosion part of the arsenal was absolutely safe?

Commander Priston.—Yes. No damage has, in fact, occurred outside the building—no important damage.

Commander Priston added that it was not an isolated experiment. Its object was to find out the safest conditions in ordinary filling factories in the country. That was why Commander Long was down from the Admiralty to watch.

Asked if there were any special arrangements for visitors, Commander Priston said that visitors of the ordinary type were not admitted, but when a man had definite duties he came at a special time, and was accompanied into the factory. He added that there were no others in the building except the five men who were killed.

SURVIVOR'S STORY

Ernest Clark, a factory hand, of Long-brook Gardens, Well Hall, S.E., said that he accompanied the party of five into the building, and, before he left, Mr. Lewis started to explain what was intended to be done. The witness was waiting outside for further orders and was on a platform when, five or 10 minutes later, Mr. Lewis and the others came out, having started the machinery up. After waiting for about five or six minutes they walked back into the building, and the witness stayed where he was. They had not been back in the building more than a minute before something happened.

The Coroner.—What did happen?

The Witness.—Simply one blast, and I knew nothing more.

Were you blown over?—I did not see what happened. It happened too quickly to know what had occurred.

The Coroner said that he understood Clark had received injuries to his arms and legs, and Clark replied again, "I do not know what happened; I could not see the walls."

The Coroner.—Did you get up?—Yes, I got up and walked along the platform as soon as the fragments stopped flying about.

Dr. Godfrey Rotter, Director of Explosives Research at the Research Department at the Royal Arsenal, said that the operation that was in progress at the time of this explosion was a well-known operation which was used during the war for filling shells, and was known as the screw filling process. The explosive had been dealt with for about seven years.

The Coroner.—I take it by this time you have got quite efficient in handling it?

Dr. Rotter.—We had ascertained the various characters of this explosive and what processes would be safe to apply to it. Our experiments had naturally started with very small quantities.

Asked what he would call a small quantity, Dr. Rotter replied, "About a quarter of an ounce." He stated that by degrees they had found more about the explosive and had handled larger quantities. The 15in. shells were being investigated, and they contained about 50lb. of explosives. "I may say," he added, "that we had filled over 100 shells, and of the particular, 15in. shell already six had been filled—two on the preceding day."

THE MIXING RESERVOIR

So far as they could ascertain, Dr. Rotter said, the explosion took place in the reservoir in which the explosive was being mixed or stirred. The reservoir was charged with the explosive during the morning so that it would be ready for the filling in the afternoon. Apparently, for some reason unknown at present, the explosive had not travelled into the shell, and there must have been some abnormality or obstruction which caused friction. The five minutes during which the party were under cover should have been long enough to complete the filling.

Dr. Rotter had finished his evidence when a man stood up at the back of the court and said that he wished to ask a question. He gave his name as Mr. A. Howarth, and said that he was a representative of the Transport and General Workers' Union being an organizer.

The Coroner gave him permission to speak, and he asked Dr. Rotter a number of questions on technical matters.

Dr. Rotter told him that every precaution was taken to avoid undue friction, but a uniform temperature could not be guaranteed with the large volume of metal in the shell. He thought there was an electric light inside the room. That and other electric connections were tested periodically by the electrical department, and the motor which drove the machine was in an annex.

"LIVES NOT WASTED"

Lieutenant-Colonel Reginald Thomas, Chief Inspector of Explosives at the Home Office, said that he visited the scene on Thursday morning, but he could not do anything more than observe the existing conditions as it was not safe to overhaul anything until it had been drenched with water, since the debris might contain loose explosive. The "prima facie" evidence appeared to be that there was some defect in the filling arrangements—possibly an obstruction which prevented the explosive from entering the shell, possibly causing heat to be set up and detonate the explosive. So far as he could judge, all reasonable precautions had been taken, and surrounding buildings were not seriously damaged because the mound and walls took the effect of the explosion.

The witness added, "I would like to say to the relatives that these lives have by no means been wasted. Workers in the Research Department are bound to take certain risks, and the rest of the industry does profit by them. I would instance that, as a result of a serious explosion a few years ago with loss of life, a new process was evolved which is considered to be a great deal safer."

The jury, without retiring, found that the men died from multiple injuries, received as a result of an explosion.

"HALF ANGEL"

Laughter freezes on your lips as mystery mingles with romance and comedy blends with suspense in "Half Angel," the Darryl F. Zanuck Twentieth Century production now at the King's Theatre with Frances Dee, Brian Donlevy and Charles Butterworth in the feature roles.

"Half Angel" is a combination of mystery, romance and suspense, intermingled with gay humour, hilarious comedy situations, and sparkling dialogue.

Frances Dee is an innocent victim of circumstances who is caught in a sinister web of synthetic point to her as a poison murderess. Brian Donlevy, as irrepressible reporter, falls in love with her at first sight and refuses to believe the manufactured evidence.

When the jury returns an unexpected verdict of acquittal while she is on trial for the first murder, Donlevy follows Miss Dee, hoping to hear first-hand her life-story. The newly-freed girl departs at once with Helen Westley, a philanthropic woman whose hobby is aiding those in trouble.

Miss Dee goes to Miss Westley's home, a strange household peopled by a weird assortment of ex-criminals, and Donlevy follows.

The reporter climbs a trellis and enters Miss Dee's room through a window. The terrified girl promises to meet him at the front gate and relate her story to him.

Returning to the house, Miss Dee is horrified to fine Miss Westley dead and her husband, Henry Stephenson, apparently dying—both of poison.

The police immediately arrest the girl again and it appears that she will certainly be convicted. Donlevy, however, never loses faith in her innocence and in a series of exciting episodes the daring news-hawk unmasks the real murderer.

Shop Assistant: "Can't you really remember what you came here to buy?"

Fair Young Thing: "No; I can't. Would you mind telling me the things you keep?"

THE MYSTERY OF THE WAX MUSEUM

The Warner Bros. casting department was given one of its most difficult assignments in selecting the cast for "The Mystery of the Wax Museum," a stirring mystery thriller which is showing at the Star Theatre to-day. This arose because of the need for a score of the players who resemble famous historical characters.

It was made even more difficult because it required two principals, who not only must look the part, but be accomplished actresses in addition. Fay Wray was finally selected for the ingenue role because she resembled Marie Antoinette and is also a capable performer. Miss Wray has the same delicately chistled features, the almost spiritual expression, and beautiful body of the French Queen.

Other players had to resemble Marat, Charlotte Corday, Helen of Troy, Columbus, Voltaire, Mary Queen of Scots, Pocahontas, Cyrano de Bergerac, Robespierre, Powhattan, Shakespeare, Richard III and others.

The plot of the picture, taken from the play by Charles S. Belden evolves about the actions of a strange monster, and the mysterious disappearance of several living persons and also bodies.

"THE SINGING KID"

On Christmas Day, 1907, the Stork, neck and neck with Santa Claus, arrived at Rochester, New York, and left to honest God-fearing negro parents, His High-de-Hi of Ho-de-Ho.

That is the affectionate title his public has since given Cab Calloway, director of one of the most popular jazz bands in America, or overseas, for that matter, and now playing with Al Jolson in the First National picture, "The Singing Kid," now showing at the Queen's Theatre.

He is also known as the leading Harlemaestro.

His father and grandfather, before him, were Cabells, a good old Southern name, so Cab really can claim the dignified title of Cabell Calloway III.

He is the second of a family of six, evenly divided as to sex.

While Cab was still a small boy, the family moved to Baltimore, where he received an education from public schools and graduated from Douglas High School. Here he also sold newspapers.

At the age of sixteen he split his time between "waiting" on tables in the Century Roof Theatre and singing in the choir of the Bethlehem Methodist Episcopal Church. It may be recorded here that he attributes his current unique type of singing to a combination of newsbaking and church-psalming.

Finding it necessary to support himself while attending law school at Crane College, Cab joined his sister, Blanche, in "Plantation Days," at the Loop Theatre, Chicago.

From there he went to the Sunset Club and became, in no time, master of ceremonies and leader of a band known as the Alabamians.

His next venture was leader of another band in New York's Cotton Club—the Missourians. Incidentally this gang replaced Duke Ellington at the famous night spot.

"The Singing Kid," combines rollicking comedy with heart throbbing drama and spectacular musical numbers. Besides Jolson the cast includes Sybil Jason, Beverly Roberts, Edward Everett Horton, Lyle Talbot, Allen Jenkins, Claire Dodd and Wini Shaw. The Yacht Club Boys also are featured.

BIG PRICES FOR ART TREASURES

4 Hours' Bidding At Oppenheimer Sale

NATIONAL FUND PAYS £900 FOR SKETCH

London, July 11.

BY A. C. B. CARTER

The National Art Collections Fund had the satisfaction of acquiring several fine drawings at the first day's sale of the Oppenheimer drawings at Christie's yesterday.

Sir Robert Witt, Sir Alec Martin, and Mr. Kenneth Clark, represented the Fund, and they captured the Cima da Conegliano head of St. Jerome at 260gns and the beautiful Filippo Lippi sketch for "The Crucifixion" at 850gns.

As the proceedings lasted for four hours much endurance was shown by the auctioneer, Mr. Gordon Hannen, by his veteran clerk, Mr. Edward Smith, and by every participant in the contest.

Quite early the Comtesse de Behague gave evidence of her prowess. From 5gns to 155gns she carried the bidding for a study of a palm-tree by Fra Bartolommeo, and stayed the course similarly from 30gns to 360gns for a charming head of a child by Bernardino Luini. Her determination to win the Leonardo da Vinci sketch, which she opened at 500gns, stopped at 1,600gns, however, and Mr. Gustavus Mayer's nearest rivals in the 4,100gns race were Messrs. Knoedler and Mr. Fritz Lugt, of Amsterdam.

Another memorable few minutes was when a sheet of studies by Michelangelo went from 500gs to 3,400gs. This was an Oppenheimer purchase in 1913 at £960, and Mr. Mayer, who bought it for Colnaghis, told me that, along with the Leonardo, it will most probably join another British private collection.

In such a long sale, especially as the lots followed alphabetical order, there were periods when the drawings brought only modest sums, but there were other sparkling reliefs which gave obvious pleasure to Sir Max Bonn, the senior Oppenheimer trustee.

REMARKABLE PROFITS

Thus the first drawing in the sale, an anonymous Italian sketch of a cavalcade of hunters, which had cost £66 in 1917, advanced to 480gs, given by the French firm of Bacri Freres. The Comtesse de Behague's 155gs study of a palm-tree, which I have already mentioned, had cost the Oppenheimer estate nothing as it had been split off the back of another drawing.

Herr Rosenberg of Amsterdam's 340gns of Fra Bartolommeo's study of two angels was bought for £120 in 1913. As for Canaletto's pen and bistre drawing of an Ascension Day festival in Venice, for which Mr. Bellesi paid 800gns, this had cost only £90 in 1908. Another Canaletto drawing of the Piazza, Venice, bought by Mr. Edward Smith for 520gns, was picked up for £80 in 1912.

Other works, showing that the collecting of Old Master drawings can be profitable besides being instructive, may be added:

Carpaccio, "The Martyrdom of the 10,000" £240 (1913), 860gns (Rosenberg).
Guardi, Landscape, £32, 540gns (Cassirer).
Guardi, Coast Scene, £60 (1910), 230gns (Dr. Borenius).
F. Lippi, Male Figures, £800 (1913), 1,300gns (Knoedler).
B. Luini, A Lady, £600 (1913) 1,050gns (Colnaghi).
Perugino, Apollo, £980, 1,400gns (Colnaghi).

In the sale of the Marquess of Lansdowne's Old Master drawings, Antonio Pisanello's gruesome study of men hanging on the gallows was sold for £410. Yesterday bidding came from every quarter and Messrs. Knoedler had to call 1,800gns. to win it.

The drawings sale will be continued on Monday and Tuesday, and on the third day there is sure to be some mighty bidding for Jehan Foucquet's portrait's of a masterful Papal Legate.

MOTOR ACCIDENT RECALLED

Summoned for driving without due care and caution, on July 14, Lo Kwan, driver of lorry No. 3141, appeared before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Court yesterday and was sentenced to 3 weeks.

Inspector Saunders stated that the defendant was driving down the steep part of Shaukiwan hill at a rather fast speed. He had 8 soldiers in the rear. Another lorry was in front and the defendant, with poor brakes, found himself overtaking it. He swerved out to avoid a collision and in doing so touched a woman. This caused him to lose control over the lorry and he drove over the bank. Several of the soldiers were injured but not seriously. The defendant was a fitter and should have known about the brakes and should have come down the hill in low gear.

RICKSHAW COOLIE ASSAULTS

Wu Cheng, 30, a licensed rickshaw coolie, was charged before Mr. C. B. Burgess at the Central Court yesterday with assaulting Cheung Hon-fan, 27, a rickshaw inspector, at the Ko Shing Theatre on Thursday.

Det.-Sergt. Dowman said that the complainant was near the theatre when he was assaulted by some men. He recognised the defendant as a man whom he had reported to the Rickshaw Farmer Association a few days previous. The defendant ran away but was arrested by a constable.

The case was remanded for one week.

• • •

PICKPOCKET

Chan Fuk, 23, appeared before Mr. C. B. Burgess at the Central Court yesterday charged with the larceny from the person of four H.K.$1.

Det.-Sergt. Guild stated that the defendant and another man were walking along Des Voeux Road, near the Central Market and the complainant was also walking along the road. The defendant brushed up against the complainant and extracted the money from his pocket. The other man was not arrested.

Admitting three previous convictions for similar offences, the defendant was sentenced to 6 months.

GAMBLERS FAIL TO APPEAR

Ho Pang, 50, a stall holder, and thirteen others were charged before Mr. C. B. Burgess at the Central Court yesterday with gambling. The first defendant was on bail of $50. The others were on bail of $3.

None of the defendant appeared in Court and their bails were estreated. The sum of $37.10 which was picked up off the table was ordered to be given to the Poor Box.

• • •

REVENUE STAMP

Appearing on remand before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Court yesterday charged with (a) on April 8, last year, using a revenue stamp on a rent receipt which had been used before, and (b) committing the same offence on April 8, this year, Pun Yuen-fong, 19, a spinster, was discharged.

Sergeant Whitcroft of the Treasury Department appeared for the prosecution.

At the previous hearing the defendant said that the stamps had fallen into a spittoon and had been placed on the window sill to dry. While drying a half witted sister had "chopped" them. Defendant's mother had confirmed this when she entered the box.

MILITARY COURT MARTIAL

A stabbing incident in which an Indian soldier wounded a comrade was the subject of a District Court Martial last week when Lance-Naik Mohd. Akber was found guilty on two charges.

Accused was charged with voluntarily causing grievous hurt to Lance-Naik Mir Zaman at 3 a.m. on June 12, and with stabbing him in the stomach. On the first charge, he was sentenced to four months' imprisonment, and on the second charge he was dismissed from the service.

Both men were attached to the R.I.A.S.C., Hong Kong Mule Corps.

WRONG PARKING SPACE

A. L. Sullivan, the well-known local tennis player, was fined $3 when he appeared before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday summoned for causing an obstruction by parking his car No.3447 on the wrong side of Saigon Street at 11.05 p.m. on July 5. Defendant stated that the sign on the proper side of the road was obscure to his view and it was just as easy for him to park on the right side as on the wrong side of the road.

THE DANGER OF RABIES

Dogs From Un Long

CHINESE FINED

The danger of introducing rabies into the Colony was alluded to by Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday morning when Lau Sin, 41, travelling trader, was fined $15 for conveying two young black chow dogs from Un Long Market, New Territories, to Taipo Road near Boundary Street, without permission from the Colonial Veterinary Surgeon.

The dogs were brought into Court in a basket and exhibited to his Worship.

Defendant said he brought dogs from the Territories five or six years ago when it was not necessary to obtain permission.

The Magistrate: You ought to know the regulations as regards dogs. You may be introducing further rabies into the Colony and it is very serious.

Sergeant F. Nolan, of Sham Shui Po Police Station, said that at about 12.45 p.m. on Thursday Sergt. A. Billingham stopped motor lorry 270 at the junction of Taipo Road and Boundary Street and on the lorry was found two baskets one containing a dog and three chickens and the other with another dog and four chickens. Defendant admitted ownership of the dogs.

His Worship: Actually there has been no rabies reported recently.

Sergt. Billingham: No for some while. One of the dogs was rather vicious and had the Chinese sergeant not had his puttees on it would have bitten his leg.

Sergt. Nolan: As far as we know the dogs are alright.

Sergt. Billingham: They are in good condition. They have no mange or anything like that.

After the defendant was fined, Sergt. Nolan asked what was to be done with the dogs and the Magistrate directed that they were sent to Ma Tau Kow for observation.

PEDLAR AND HIS BRAIN WAVE

Simple Device For Killing Bed Bugs

"IDEA THAT SHOULD BE PATENTED"

A piece of wood, 18 inches long, an inch thick and an inch and a half in width, with a neat succession of holes drilled through it.

This is claimed to be a simple device of getting rid of bed bugs.

One is supposed to place this well drilled piece of wood on the bed board and the bugs will automatically make for it—and their doom! For bugs love holes, they breed there in their millions.

When a sufficient time has elapsed all one does is to remove the wood, dump it in boiling water, or place it over a flame. The choice is left to the purchaser! And the big nuisance is temporarily abated.

Old soldiers will read this with amusement when they remember the hours spent on a bed board with a hairpin picking into holes!

If the man whose brain gave birth to this idea, would only have it patented, he might make a fortune. But first he has to obtain a licence for pedalling his ware, just to be on the right side of the law.

There seems to be a definite demand for these boards, too. The day before yesterday he was charged at the Kowloon Court with hawking without a licence. He was arrested in Shamshuipo district with eighteen "bug-boards" in his possession.

"The man should have it patented" said a police officer, who was an ex-soldier. "It must be effective because bugs breed in holes. On cleaning days in the old days—the first thing we looked for were holes. A pin then would do the trick!"

TRAFFIC SUMMONS

Driving Without Due Care

A PREVIOUS CONVICTION

Chief Inspector R. Marks appeared as a witness in a traffic summons yesterday before Mr. C. B. Burgess when Wong Tim, driver of car No. 308, was charged with driving without due care and caution along Albany Road on June 17 at 10.30 a.m.

Traffic Sergeant Youe stated that on June 17 he was driving a motor cycle combination along Albany Road with Chief Inspector Marks as passenger and when about half way up the road car No.308 was seen coming down the road. The driver was then just turning a left hand bend and appeared to be going too fast. When the driver saw the cycle he tried to slow down and applying his brakes left a skid mark with his rear right tyre for about 60 feet. The car was then travelling about 15 or 20 m.p.h.

EFFICIENT BRAKES

A number of people were then walking around. Sergt. Youe stopped the defendant and informed him that he was being summoned. The car was taken to the Central Station where the brakes were tested and found to be efficient but badly adjusted.

Chief Inspector Marks then corroborated the evidence of Sergt. Youe, after which the defendant entered the witness box and said that there was a corner at that place and the Police could not have seen him before turning the corner. After turning the corner the Sergeant stopped witness and accused him of speeding. Witness then told the Sergeant that he might have heard the brakes being applied and thought that he was speeding.

Defendant stated that he had been driving since 1922. He traversed that road about once a week and was employed by the Attorney General.

The records showed that the defendant had had a previous conviction (a caution) for the same offence. He was fined $10.

STOLEN PROPERTY TRACED

Women In Court

ON RECEIVING CHARGES

Mak Hing, 19, married woman, appeared before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday morning charged with (a) receiving a gold ring set with a diamond, the property of a married woman, Leung Sheung, of 38, Nan Chang Street, which was stolen between July 19 and 29; (b) giving false information at the Yau Yuen Pawnshop, 58, Pei Ho Street; and (c) giving false information at the Tai Yick Pawnshop, 618, Shanghai Street. Defendant denied the first charge stating she did not know the ring had been stolen, and pleaded guilty to the other two counts.

Also in the dock was Lai Sau, 58-year-old widow, who pleaded not guilty to receiving a gold finger ring knowing it to be stolen.

THE THEFTS

Detective Sergeant C.H. Goodwin said that on the night of July 19-20, a thief gained entrance to the first floor of 38, Nan Chang Street, by climbing the back wall on to the verandah and through an open door. Two drawers were removed and in one of these was a cash box containing jewellery. The drawers were found in the verandah but several articles of jewellery were missing. On July 21, a detective went to the Yau Yuen Pawnshop and found a ring which he showed to the complainant and she identified it. The pawnbroker was given certain instructions and when the first accused, Mak Hing, returned to redeem the ring she was detained and handed over to the police. At the station she gave several accounts of how she came by the ring, one of which was that a man, Chan Sang, whom she knew but had not seen for 12 months, had given her the ring and as she was poor she pawned it.

A detective was left on a certain floor to await the return of Chan Sang and at 7 p.m. on July 29, a woman came to the floor but did not enter. She peeped through a hole in the door. The detective went out and caught the woman as she attempted to run down the stairs. In her possession was found the diamond ring.

Mak Hing gave the name of Chan Ying, and her address as 103, Yee Kut Street on both occasions when she pawned the rings.

Evidence was heard after which the hearing was adjourned to this morning.

CHUN-SHING INSTITUTE GRADUATION DAY

Commercial Diplomas Awarded

Forty nine graduates of the Chun-Shing Institute of Commerce and Six prize winners were the recipients of diplomas and awards at the Graduation Function of the Institute which was held yesterday at the Roof Garden of the Hong Kong Hotel.

The occasion was one of honour for the successful students and one of pride for the Institution. It was very well attended by numerous friends and relatives of the students.

BUSINESS NEED FULFILLED

Dr. S. F. Lam, Ph. D., in welcoming the guests and commenting of the success of the Institute said:

On behalf of the Chun-Shing Institute I extend to you all a warm welcome to this great function. I feel you are taking an interest in the Institute. The Institute is filling a need of the Colony as well as of South China. Present day business is becoming harder and harder every day, but this may be made easier by competent and well-trained students of the Institute. It is for this that the Institute was founded, first as a typewriting school. Later bookkeeping was introduced into the curriculum and numerous subjects were added so that the school was changed to an Institute.

Mr. Kwok has been a living figure of the School and has seen it grow every day. I am pleased to mention that the staff has made the school the success that it is to-day.

You hear so much about the different kinds of warfare scientific and otherwise, but we are concerned with commercial warfare. Competition has become so keen that it is just like fighting on a battle field and if people are not well equipped for this work, how can they succeed?

A student should have foresight and look to the future and beyond where they live. China needs business men and commercial talent and every far-sighted student ought to look in this direction.

Dr. Lam concluded expressing hope for the future welfare of the Institute.

CHAIRMAN'S REPORT

In making his report Mr. Kwok Chun-shing (Director) said:—

Mr. Chairman, Mr. Hsu, Ladies and Gentlemen:—The function which you are honouring with your presence this afternoon, marks the graduation of students of the 8th Term of Commerce and also of those attending the 19th Term Typewriting Course. Of the 25 candidates who sat for the Commercial Examination, which took place on June 15 last, 12 were successful, 8 securing the Diploma awarded for a Full Course, and the remainder that for a Prescribed Course. First honours went to Au Wai Man who is to be congratulated for having passed in 12 subjects out of the full series of 13.

In the Typewriting Department, the highest aggregate of points for Seniors was secured by Au Wai Man with a speed of 60 words a minute to his credit; while first place in the Junior Division was attained by Wong Kin To with 39 words a minute. These examinations were held with strict regard for the three essentials of accuracy, neatness and speed, and the results, displaying the attainment of a high standard of efficiency, certainly reflect the greatest credit on the students concerned.

YEAR'S ACTIVITIES

During the past year, we have had 201 students on our Roll, attending one or other of the three sections included in our Institute, namely the Commercial, Typewriting and English Evening Departments. The average daily attendance was 95 per cent. The great majority of these students have come to us after passing out from other Schools or Colleges to take full advantage of the facilities we are able to offer for a sound and comprehensive training in theoretical and practical commercial work. In the Full Commercial Course, this training is extended to 14 subjects, namely, Typewriting, Shorthand, Bookkeeping, Commercial Knowledge, Commercial Correspondence, Commercial Arithmetic, Commercial Practice, Insurance, Import and Export, Shipping, Salesmanship, Banking, Economics, and Japanese, and other Foreign Languages. Other subjects are added as the need arises, it being the aim of this Institute to provide the fullest possible scope for training for present-day commercial requirements, and in anticipation of the still more competitive times to come.

In our capacity as Hong Kong representatives, we are authorised to hold examinations in connection with the Institute of Commerce, and Pitman's Shorthand Institute, England. Success in these examinations will lead to the conferment by those respective Institutes of their Diplomas and Degrees. With regard to the Examination of the Institute of Commerce, England, which was held at our Institute in January 1936, we have the pleasure to announce that out of the 15 candidates who sat for the examination, all of them passed successfully, while Lee Hin Poh who passed in 6 subjects, secured the first place and will be awarded with a Camera presented by Mr. J. R. Swales, the Accountant of the Mercantile Bank of India, Ltd., to whom I take this opportunity to offer our best thanks for his encouragement and generosity.

The Staff, increased from time to time as the need arose, now consists, in addition to the Director Mr. C. S. Kwok, A.A., A.R.I.P.H., F. Com. Sc. A., F.C.I. (England), of Messrs. Y. C. Lee, A.A. (Cambridge) H. T. Li, M. S. Lau, and Mesdames M. O. Fisher, Ph.B., M.A., C. S. Kwok. All of them are experienced tutors.

During the year, we have availed ourselves of opportunities for enlarging the practical side of our training, such events which are in addition to our ordinary curriculum, including visits to the Nan Yang Tobacco Co., Watson's Aerated Water Factory, Taikoo Dockyard and the Printing Works of the Commercial Press at North Point.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

The social side has not been overlooked. Most notable of these doings has been the formation of an Association of old and present students of this Institute. Inaugurated on May 31st last, it will serve as a link binding the student body of this Institute into an harmonious whole for mutual service and the exchange of ideas and impressions.

This social service in our case has been further given expression to in the holding of an Ambulance Class, in charge of Dr. S. C. Chan, M.B., B.S., and also in charitable work for the needy, by the institution of an English Free School in the evenings.

During this summer we have revived our custom of holding launch picnics. The first of these, which was to Castle Peak, was held on July 19th, and was very largely attended by the students and their friends and relatives.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS

During the year we have been honoured with a visit from the Hon. Dr. R. H. Kotewall, C.M.G., LL.D. Dr. Kotewall made an inspection of the Institute's work and had a few encouraging words for the students at the close of his visit. We have also been honoured with a visit from our Hon. President Dr. S. F. Lam, Ph.D., from whose hands we have received much advice and encouragement from time to time. Furthermore, our Medical Adviser, Dr. F. C. Tsang, M.B., B.S., also paid us a visit and was so kind as to deliver to the students and their friends who were present, a lecture on "Money or Power?" which gave the audience a deep impression. Let me seize this opportunity to offer our heartiest thanks to the above honourable guests.

In giving the student the practical business training, we have not overlooked the mechanical side, and the facilities we have provided, such as Calculating Machines, Adding Machines, Cheque Writers, Book-keeping Machines, etc., in addition to typewriters, are in line with the most intricate equipment they may be called upon to handle in a modern, up-to-date and progressive business office. We also take care of the filing side of correspondence work, and the practical training the students are receiving in this and other departments is such that we are confident they will be able to step right into any positions without the time and trouble usually expended in "breaking in" the untrained worker.

APPRECIATION OF INSTITUTE

That our services to the commercial community at large are appreciated has been demonstrated by the interested enquiries we have received from numerous firms during the course of the year. Amongst those whom we have recommended for positions of assistants are Mr. Wong Wai Sin who is now with Messrs. N. Y. K. Co., Mr. Allen Lai with Messrs. J. P. Vasunia Co., Mr. Jack Yeung and Mr. Kwok Shui Fai with Messrs. Utoomal & Assukumal Co.,

SUICIDE PACT FOILED

Timely Intervention

KOWLOON AFFAIR

But for the timely intervention of a Chinese Constable, a suicide pact which was enacted near the precincts of the Kowloon Magistracy on Thursday afternoon would at least have claimed one life, as it was the victim Mak Sim, a 21 year-old-amah was stopped in the nick of time, and after first aid was rendered on the spot by those present she was removed to the Kowloon Hospital where she recovered after further treatment.

The amah was seen by a Chinese Constable to swallow the contents of a bottle in Gascoigne Road. She was at once seized and dragged into the precincts of the Magistracy. Assistance was at once forthcoming when Court Sergeant MacMahon and Sergeant Noland appear to give aid. The woman by this time had collapsed and was frothing in the mouth. It was at once deduced that she had taken poison and all that could be done for her was administered on the spot.

Later Dr. K. K. Wong was summoned and he arrived with the Ambulance and after the woman was partially revived she was at once sent to Hospital where according to information obtained she has now pass the danger line.

Mr. Q.A.A. Macfadyen, the Senior Kowloon Magistrate was also on the spot to render assistance.

The other woman, who had made the pact with Mak Sim, upon learning that she had drank the whole bottle of potassium permanganate solution at once dashed off to purchase a fresh bottle to complete the pact, but was prevented from doing so.

MORE TAXATION

VEHICLES USING HEAVY OIL OR DIESEL OIL

The following communiqué was received for publication:

It is notified for general information that Government has recently had under consideration the imposition of a special tax on vehicles equipped with engines using heavy oil or Diesel oil as fuel, and that such taxation will probably be on the lines of that in force in the Straits Settlements. It is not Government's intention to impose the extra taxation in the immediate future, but notification of the intended policy is given in order that agents and purchasers of vehicles of this type may be aware of the position.

INSPECTOR KNOCKED DOWN

By Motor Car

Inspector W. Lane was involved in a slight accident yesterday about 11 a.m. He was travelling along Caine Road in the direction of the Government Civil Hospital in a rickshaw and when near Castle Road car No.2895, driven by Mr. T. K. Lo came up from the rear and knocked the rickshaw over.

No one was hurt fortunately, and the various vehicles continued their ways.

SCIENTIST ARRIVES IN COLONY

Member Of National Geographic Society

MR. T. J. KILKENNY

The States Steamship Company's liner, which arrived in Hong Kong yesterday morning from Portland, via ports, carried a full passenger list, among whom was Mr. T. J. Kilkenny, of Providence, Rhode Island, a member of the National Geographic Society.

It was with some trepidation that a representative of the "Hong Kong Daily Press" went in search of the noted scientist, as Mr. Kilkenny had disembarked from the ship after her arrival. However, he was discerned making some purchases in one of the silk stores that dot Nathan Road, in Kowloon, and was more than pleased to give an interview.

Mr. Kilkenny was in a most affable mood, which is essentially American, and accorded our representative a more than cordial reception.

When asked about his mission in the Colony, Mr. Kilkenny said, "I am here as a vanguard to supervise the building of a seventy-five foot American schooner, and have her equipped for an extensive voyage. We intend to leave Hong Kong some time in January, next year, and head for Port Said, and from there we shall go on through the Philippine Islands, the Dutch East Indies, New Guinea, Burma, India, the Persian Gulf, and end the expedition at the Red Sea, which will be of about a year's duration.

I was here three years ago, and the Ah King Company built us a very fine schooner, on which we had intended to sail to New York. However, we changed our plans and had her shipped instead. In all probability, the same concern will build us another schooner.

SCIENTIFIC EXPEDITION

When we leave here in January we will have at least two distinguished personages on board: the Baron Von Furstenberg, of Germany, and Count Ilia Tolstoy, of Russia who is a grandson of the famous Russian author, Leo Tolstoy.

The expedition will be essentially a scientific one, and representatives of John Hopkin's University of Baltimore, Maryland, the National Geographic Society, the Smithsonian Institute, and other (well-known) scientists in America will be with us. Our crew will be entirely Chinese.

Our mission is to collect native medicines while on the expedition, and we are also going to make extensive observations of the cosmic ray.

When I was here in 1933, I had a most enjoyable time, and I am looking forward to renewing old acquaintances, as I shall be here until January."

Our representative could not learn of any other information, as Mr. Kilkenny is under contract with "King Features" and "Associated Press," in America, (two well-known press organisations there), to give them full details of the expedition.

When we saw Mr. Kilkenny he was undecided as to whether he would stay on the mainland, or in Hong Kong.

DUNNE LEAVES THE ARSENAL

IRISH INTERNATIONAL GOES TO SOUTHAMPTON

London, July 13.

James Dunne, the Arsenal and Irish International centre-forward was to-day transferred to Southampton, the club from whom Arsenal secured Drake, their present leader.

Born in Dublin, Dunne played for Shamrock Rovers, before joining New Brighton in 1925. Ireland honoured him in 1928, and altogether he has made seven appearances for his country.

Dunne first leapt into prominence after being transferred to Sheffield United in February, 1926. On September 30, 1933, Arsenal paid the United a fee of £8,000 for his signature. Of fine physique, Dunne possesses natural gifts, but he never really fitted in with Arsenal's methods.

Southampton have also signed on two amateur Internationals in F. Smallwood, Welsh outside-left, and W. A. Moore, Welsh left half-back.

FINDING A CURE FOR ACCIDENTS

Two warnings in the news may set us thinking — appropriately enough, at a week-end, when the curve of casualty usually leaps upward—about the problem of finding a cure for accidents.

The first warning is a criticism of the miners made in his annual report by Mr. E. H. Frazer, Scottish Divisional Inspector of Mines. Mr. Frazer gives it as his considered opinion that at least 60 per cent. of all mine accidents could have been avoided by the use of common sense. He says that the majority of casualties arise through "carelessness, callousness to danger, and disregard of the law."

Not the miners only but all whose activities involve degrees of risk may take those words to heart. Particularly might they be considered in relation to the staggering toll of traffic accidents.

For the second of the warnings is grimly apparent in the latest weekly casualty figures for the British roads, showing a new high total for this year—137 dead and 5092 injured. In one week! On Scottish roads alone last week 14 people were killed and 457 injured. Those casualties: be it noted, are occurring after years of intensive preaching of safety and with the most elaborate schemes of rules and precautions ever devised. Is it to be taken, then, that over 100 lives a week is the permanent price of our increased speed of road travel?

Admittedly a large proportion of the tragedies hidden in the quiet record of the figures have their cause in that same "carelessness, callousness to danger, and disregard of the law" of which the miner is accused. But what can be done about it? Can anything further be done about it?

More and more people are beginning to ask if speed in travel and transport is worth the price. The value of speed to us is its saving of time. Fast travel by road gives us at most an hour or two more at the end of a long journey. On most trips it saves only a few minutes. Set against that the huge loss in years of useful activity of the hundreds killed and injured and it looks a pitiably poor bargain.

NAKAYAMA CASE VERDICT

Increasing Clamour By Japanese

SPEEDY DECISION DESIRED

Shanghai, July 31.

Despite the increasing clamour of the Japanese community for the verdict in the Nakayama case, no Court session was held to-day as scheduled and the next hearing has been fixed for August 5 when the respective counsel will sum up the evidence.

Two officials of the Japanese Consulate General visited Mr. Paul Ru, assistant Municipal Advocate, this morning. It is understood they intimated that a speedy decision was desired by the Japanese authorities.—

"SERIOUS MATTER"

A Reuter cable from Shanghai on July 29 stated:

Charges of insincerity have been levelled by local Japanese and Nipponese newspaper officials against the Chinese Court trying the alleged assassin of Warrant Officer Hideo Nakayama who was killed at Hongkew last summer. Lieut.-Commander Matao Okimo, Assistant Naval Attache told The "Shanghai Mainichi" that "If the Court fails to announce a definite date on which the verdict is to be handed down at the scheduled hearing on July 31, we shall regard it as a serious matter."

INDIA OFFICE SURPRISE

New Order A Blow To Imperial Airways

London, July 16.

Imperial Airways have just been notified by the India Office that from July 29 no air liner will be allowed to enter India unless nine days have elapsed from the time that it left Khartoum, for reasons of quarantine.

This order is very serious for Imperial Airways, as it will throw their schedules out in a manner which will be difficult to circumvent in the short time before the order is enforced.

Imperial Airways have flown air liners on this route for many years, and not once has a case of yellow fever in India been traced to importation by one of its planes.

EDWARD VIII. COINS

London, July 10.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer told the Commons yesterday that specimen sets of the first issue of coins of King Edward VIII. would be made in due course for collectors and others requiring them.

Sets containing gold would be available at stated prices to all who applied for them. Full details would be published in good time, and the issue would be available to applicants at home and overseas.

Mr. Gallacher (Com.)—Is he aware that the unemployed will be specially interested in collecting gold coins?

No answer was given.

ANGLO-RUSSIAN NAVAL AGREEMENT

Soviet Fleet In Far East To Be Excluded

London, July 31.

It is understood that the Anglo-Russian naval agreement, from which the Soviet fleet in the Far East is to be excluded under the Russian reservation, is based mutatis mutandis upon the text of the London Treaty with only a few modifications of a technical character.

Russia has fully accepted the London Treaty tonnage limitations, non-construction zone and advance exchange of information.

It is believed that Britain only accepted the Russian Far Eastern reservation as the result of a gentlemen's agreement whereby Russia undertakes not to initiate naval construction in the Far East outside treaty limits.

It is expected that the text of the agreement, the final drafting of which is not completed, will be published about a fortnight hence.

—Reuter.

OTHERS INFORMED

London, July 31.

Although there is as yet on final text of agreement reached in the Anglo-Russian naval negotiations for a bilateral treaty, a summary of the result of conversations up to the present has been conveyed verbally to the United States and French Embassies and in writing to the German, Polish and Italian Embassies.

Negotiations were directed to the conclusion of an understanding in regard to qualitative armaments and exchange of information on building programmes upon lines of the London naval agreement to which the United States, France and Britain are parties.—

OFFICIAL STATEMENT

London, July 30.

A bi-lateral Anglo-Russian naval agreement has been reached on all points, states a Foreign Office communique, as a result of a meeting of the Russian Ambassador, M. I. M. Maisky, a Counsellor, and Naval Attache with Admiralty officials at the Foreign Office yesterday.

The treaty attains the object of incorporating the principles of the London 1936 Tri-Party Naval Agreement.

It now remains to inform the other countries concerned.

TRADE ACCORD

Simultaneously, it is announced that an important Anglo-Soviet credit agreement has been reached.

Mr. Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade, made the disclosure in the House of Commons to-day.

Under the agreement, the Soviet guarantees to place £10,000,000 of orders in Great Britain within twelve months. The Export Credits Guarantee Department has undertaken to make arrangements to enable the Soviet buyers to pay promptly in cash the bills of the exporters.

The Soviet Government will issue five-year negotiable notes, bearing five and a half per cent. interest, the principal and interest of which will be guaranteed by the Export Credits Department.

The orders will not include war material.—

BRITISH ATHLETES WELCOMED

("Hong Kong Daily Press" Special)

Berlin, July 30.

A group of 116 members of the Olympic team of England, which will altogether comprise 370 members, arrived here on Thursday afternoon. The President of the German Olympic Committee, Dr. Lewald and Duke Adolf Friedrich of Mecklenburg, who is a member of the German Olympic Committee, as well as other officials and representatives of the British Embassy and the Consulate General welcomed the Britishers at their arrival. The leader of the British Group, Lord Burghley heartily expressed thanks for the kind reception. The athletes quartered at the Olympic Village were temporarily interrupted in their training when the newcomers arrived at the village.

King Edward VIII telegraphed to the British athletes, wishing them all luck in the Games, and expressing the hope that they will show the traditional British fair play during the competitions.—

MEDICAL SIDE AT OLYMPICS

Army Of Doctors In Attendance

STREET ACCIDENT SERVICE

("Hong Kong Daily Press" Special)

Berlin, July 30.

Not the least important of all preparations that had to be made was the ample provisioning of medical service for the Olympic Games, to deal with any kind of accident and emergency that might arise.

How far-reaching and thorough this service is, was made known by State Councillor Dr. Conti, in a report read at the International Sport's doctors' congress on Thursday about medical and first aid service provided at the Reichs sports ground and other places, where the Olympic Games will be contested.

The arrangements comprise cars for portsmen, spectators and Olympic visitors to Berlin. In the Olympic Village itself, the Military Authorities have been entrusted with the organisation of the service to the superintending of Dr. Ziaja and the well-known sports doctor Dr. Bader. The Medical College of the German Sports Doctors Federation that worked so successfully at Garmisch-Partenkirchen has been set up again at Eichkamp, a suburb on the outskirts of Berlin. On the Reichs sports ground the medical service is housed in the newly erected Doctors' House. About 100 doctors who will not be permitted any other activity during the Games, will be in constant attendance. These medical practitioners have been chosen from the ranks of the National Socialist Formations, the German Sports Doctors Federation and the National Socialist Physicians Union. First Aid men of the Red Cross, helpers of the Labour Service and squadrons of the Research Society of Aquatic Sports Club have been carefully selected.

In the city the street accident service has been reinforced. Bactereological research and examination laboratories are in constant readiness for emergency calls. Special volunteers provide all that is required at the camps and barracks where the guests, especially the young folk are housed, where great numbers are concentrated, and precaution against epidemics must be taken.

The sacred flame for the opening ceremony of the Olympic Games in Berlin on Aug. 1 will be lit on Monday at Olympia, at the foot of Mount Olympus.

From there the flame will be carried by runners from torch to torch across Europe to Berlin.

Thousands of Greeks will watch the ceremony of kindling the first torch by focusing the sun's rays through a burning-glass. From the temple of Zeus 14 girls will march with the flame round the sacred grove.

A bishop will then bless the torch before the runner sets off for Athens. The flame will reach Sofia on July 25, when King Boris of Bulgaria will carry it through the streets.

Two days later the boy King Peter of Jugoslavia will carry it through Belgrade. From there it will pass through Budapest, Vienna, Prague and Dresden to Berlin.

KING INSPECTS THE NAHLIN

London, July 31.

The King drove in a Royal car to Southampton Docks this afternoon on a surprise visit of inspection of the yacht Nahlin. The quayside was practically deserted when he arrived.

The King remained aboard for ninety minutes and saw every nook and crannie. He was conducted over the vessel by the master, Captain Doyle, and afterwards expressed delight at the arrangements for his cruise. His Majesty cordially shook hands with the Captain and members of the crew.

A large crowd which collected meanwhile at the dock gate cheered His Majesty's departure.—

EMPIRE DEFENCE PROBLEM

London, July 31.

Emphasising that Empire telegraphic communications constituted an essential part of the defence problem in the course of an address at Bristol Summer School of the Royal Empire Society, Mr. Wilshaw, Chairman of Cable and Wireless Limited, announced that Sir Campbell Stuart would preside at the committee which will consider the whole problem.

He pointed out that hitherto the British Empire predominated in the matter of world communications, but the position is being seriously challenged and there was a grave danger that these communications were becoming wholly uneconomic to the Governments of the Empire.

However, he agreed that the committee, consisting of representatives of the Dominions and Colonies should examine the matter. He was confident that a satisfactory solution will be found.

TERRIFYING EXPERIENCES IN BARCELONA

Graphic Descriptions By Refugees

WOMAN FASCIST IN MOTOR CAR

Killed While Manning Machine Gun

London, July 31.

The liner City of Hong Kong has brought to Plymouth refugees from Spain comprising 14 men, 50 women, 19 children and four babies. Two of the babies were a fortnight old and the oldest among the refugees was 95 years of age. Many of the refugees gave graphic descriptions of their terrifying experiences.

A Bristol woman, Edith Cross, saw a car in Barcelona drive furiously down the street in which a woman rose and gave the Communist salute. The woman then opened fire with a machine gun, killing several people, before the soldiers literally cut her to pieces. The woman was a Fascist who used the Communist salute as a disguise.

CORPSES IN STREETS

Fifteen-year-old Ian Houston said that he walked through the barracks the day after the revolution began and saw piles of bodies everywhere. Men and women were grabbing rifles and revolvers from stacks of arms piled outside the barracks for anyone to take.

A Streatham resident, Miss Spencer Smith, said that every hospital in Barcelona was full and many of the wounded were left lying in the streets. Corpses of men and horses were left for two and three days and the stench was awful.—Reuter.

MADRID EVACUATIONS

Messages from Madrid indicate that the capital appears to be returning gradually to normal conditions. Shops are open, food is adequate and the streets are crowded. Many of the Embassies are harbouring refugees. A press message from Madrid to-day says that one hundred British and fifty American subjects left there by train last night for Valencia where they will board a British warship. Another hundred are expected to leave to-day or to-morrow.

In the uncertain situation it is clearly advisable that foreigners wherever possible should in their own interest leave Spain until the present troubles are over.

BRITISH WARSHIPS

There are now nearly forty British warships in Spanish waters and at Gibraltar. Admiral Sir Dudley Pound is on the way from Malta to Gibraltar on the cruiser Galatea. The battleship Queen Elizabeth is also expected there. Seven warships are at Barcelona and the hospital ship Maine is proceeding there and most of the foreign population of that port have been or are being evacuated.—British Wireless.

ATTACK ON CAPITAL

Hendaye, July 30.

The troops of the Military Group are continuing to advance on all fronts, according to the latest messages here from Spain. The Commander of the Northern Army, so the reports add, decided to begin the attack on Madrid—which may be definitely decisive for the outcome of the Civil War, without further delay. The Government hastily mobilised all available forces, and sent out a squadron of planes to check the rebels' offensive. General Molo responded to this attack with heavy artillery fire on positions held by the workers militia.—Transocean News Service.

INSURGENTS BOMBED

London, July 30.

Spanish Government aeroplanes are bombing insurgents in the neighbourhood of Saragossa, which loyal columns are reported to be nearing.

While H.M.S. Devonshire, 10,000-ton cruiser, is lying at Valencia to take aboard refugees from Madrid, it is reported that tension among the British nationals in the capital has eased and most of them are disinclined to leave the city. They claim Madrid is still well supplied with food despite the insurgents' claim to be threatening the city's communications with the coast.

That the Government feels easier about the situation is indicated by the report that the proposal to call up two more classes of recruits has been suspended as an unnecessary measure.

It is reported that General Carrasco, former military Governor of San Sebastian, who led the rebels who surrendered their barracks, Loyola, after a stiff fight, was executed to-day along with a score of officers of the garrison.—Reuter.

BOMBARDMENT OF STRONGHOLDS

Alleged Italian Aid To Insurgents

Paris, July 31.

Circumstantial evidence has given rise to the report that Italy has aided the rebels in the Spanish civil war. Three Italian planes made forced landings in French Morocco in which three Italians were killed and five injured. Members of the crew of the planes have been arrested by the French police and an official enquiry will be made. It is understood that the Italian planes were on the way to help the rebels in the proposed heavy aerial bombardment of Government strongholds.—Reuter's Bulletin Service

MISSION INTERRUPTED

Oran, July 30.

Three out of six Italian aeroplanes, bound from Sardinia to Spanish Morocco, made a forced landing on French soil to-day.

One crashed near Nemours, Algeria, and two of its crew were killed and one injured. Five machine-guns were found aboard the plane

The second machine came down near Oran and the third near Lamoulouya.

One of the crew of this third machine stated the planes were on a mission to Nador, south of Melilla, Spanish Morocco, which is held by Spanish insurgents.

This plane carried no markings or identification number.—Reuter.

DELBOS VOICES REGRET

Sanguinary Struggle In Spain

ATTITUDE OF FRANCE

("Hong Kong Daily Press" Special)

Paris, July 31.

Foreign Minister Delbos, in the course of a meeting of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the Chamber, expressed his deep regret that the great friendly neighbouring country Spain should be the scene of sanguinary struggles. Press reports add that M. Delbos declared that the French Government intended to remain strictly neutral.

It is further reported that in answer to a question as to what attitude the French Government would adopt in the event of other powers intervening in Spain, M. Delbos said that such rumours need scarcely be taken seriously, as they, especially the one in connection with Italy, had already been denied.

The Minister is asserted to have emphasised the fact that no country is desirous of intervening in Spain's internal affairs but, that should it prove to be otherwise, the French Government would have to reconsider its attitude.

The French Government, so M. Delbos stated, would do all in its power to prevent an international complication arising out of the Spanish civil war.—Transocean News Service

SPANISH SHELLS GO ASTRAY

Death And Injuries To Germans

("Hong Kong Daily Press" Special)

Berlin, July 30.

A wireless message received here from the Cruiser "Koeln" states that the Spanish cruiser Almirante Cervantes bombarded on Wednesday the Communist quarter in Dijon in the North of Spain. Several shots that flew wide off the mark exploded and wounded a number of German Nationals one of whom died from the injuries, and others were taken on board the cruiser, whose Commander immediately lodged a strong protest with the commander of the Cervantes, who, however, tendered his apologies. The Commander-in-Chief of the ships of the line, Rear-Admiral Carls, repeated this protest in the name of the Austrian, Swiss and Swedish Nationals with whose protection Carls is entrusted, to the Spanish authorities, who immediately expressed their regret at the death and injuries suffered by the German Nationals. Besides the seriously wounded, the "Koeln" received on board the remaining German Nationals in Dijon and Musel, also several Austrian, Swiss, Swedes and Cubans. In view of this attempt to poison the atmosphere we must point out that of the 150 persons arrested there is only one single Reichsgerman, who shouted "One people, one Reich." ARMAMENTS FOR SPAIN

French Attitude To Be Decided

PRESS FEARS

Paris, July 30.

The question of armaments for Spain is agitating French political circles.

M. Leon Blum, the Prime Minister, and M. Yves Delbos, Foreign Minister, to-day denied reports alleging the delivery of French arms and aeroplanes to Spain, but the Rightist press is apprehensive lest reports that Germany and Italy are furnishing arms to the insurgents may cause the French Government to reconsider its neutrality declarations. Rightists fear that interference of this nature might cause the Spanish trouble to spread into Europe.

It is believed the Government will leave a final decision with regard to the furnishing of arms to Spain until after the debate in the Chamber of Deputies to-morrow.

M. Delbos, replying to questions in the Foreign Affairs Committee of the Chamber this evening, said if foreign powers sent arms to the Spanish rebels the French Government would have to reconsider its position.

A high official of the Spanish War Ministry arrived in Paris by air to-day to try to obtain authorisation for the purchase of armament supplies from French firms. It is stated if he fails in Paris he will make his purchase elsewhere.—Reuter

ROYAL PROCESSION INCIDENT

McMahon's Evidence At Bow Street

ALLEGED WRONGFUL IMPRISONMENT

Wished To Draw King's Attention

London, July 31.

George Andrew McMahon, who was responsible for the sensational incident during the Royal procession after the Guards Parade on July 16, made a further appearance at Bow Street Police Court to-day, when he threw further light on his strange behaviour.

Accused was charged with being in possession of a revolver with intent to endanger life, and on other charges of presenting near His Majesty a revolver with intent to break the public peace and producing a revolver with intent to alarm His Majesty.

MIND TOO DISTURBED

Giving evidence, McMahon said that he had petitioned to the late King George and also to King Edward against wrongful imprisonment in which he had served three and a half months out of twelve months for criminal libel and was later released on appeal.

Accused explained that he left one chamber of the revolver empty because he thought that if it was not fully loaded it was impossible to accidentally discharge it.

McMahon sobbingly described how he was going to shoot himself at Constitution Hill. "Then the thought struck me that if only I could draw the King's attention to the wrongs which have been meted out to me at least he would not allow his subjects to be so treated," he said.

"Just as the band was passing I saw His Majesty emerge beneath the Arch. I put my hand in my pocket and took out the gun and when the King approached I threw the gun."

McMahon declared that he definitely did not point the revolver at anyone and did not think that the incident would alarm the King because he threw the revolver too far in front.

Replying to the Attorney General, who asked if it was necessary to use a revolver for the purposes of such a gesture, McMahon said "It is so easy in the light of after-events to imagine what one should have done. My mind was too disturbed at the time and I now think that my action was unjustified."

Accused was committed to stand trial on all three charges.—Reuter.

During the King's absence from England no regency will act for him. Official documents requiring his signature will be sent by messenger to various points of his route and will be picked up, in all probability, by the escorting destroyers.

No detailed itinerary of the cruise has yet been planned but the Government authorities will be kept informed of His Majesty's movements and the escorting destroyers will be in constant wireless touch with the Admiralty. The King, also, will be able to keep in touch with London from the yacht.

If any unforeseen developments occur, rendering the King's presence in London desirable, special arrangements will be made for him to make a speedy journey back.

LAWN BOWLS GOSSIP

The Coming Interport

LEAGUE PROSPECTS

(BY "SHORT HEAD")

Interest in the lawn bowls leagues are beginning to wane, and attention is now centred on the coming Interport with Shanghai and the Finals in the local open championships.

So far the names submitted for the Interport are not the nucleus of the local bowling aces, and with the exception of one ex-interporter the names are new to the interport series

GAMES REVIEWED

The rain last week practically washed out all the games and only two senior matches were decided and both the C.C.C. teams were victorious.

Playing away on the Indian green, the Champions won by 69 shots to 45. The game at one stage was very keenly and evenly contested. In the match between Adal's four and Omar's quaretette, the Indians were leading before tea time by 15 shots to 2. It was not very flattering to the Valley team, as by then the Indians were piling up their points. However, after they had their tea a distinct recovery was seen and thereafter it was the Valley team that did all the damage to win by 23 shots to 19. The Indians added only four more shots after tea.

At the commencement the Indians played mediocre bowls, and after the Valley team found their stride they were completely overshadowed. Adal who had the luck at the beginning was later outplayed by Omar, while S. O. Bux was seen to good advantage against W. K. Way. Both Gomes and D. Rumjahn were superior to their opposite numbers.

A. R. Dallah's rink fell an easy victim to R. F. Luz's four, losing by 26 shots to 13. It was indeed a great day for Luz's rink, as every one of his men, including himself were playing a superior brand of bowls. With the exception of M. R. Abbas, who although was overshadowed by A. M. Omar, pulled his weight to a certain extent, and it was due to him at the earlier stages that the Indians were able to lie the shots.

C. S. Rosselet and his men had matters practically their way against A. R. Minu's four. Minu was doing a lot of driving during the game and he found in Rosselet a skip who combined driving with skill to defeat him at his own game. The match ended in a win for Rosselet by 20 shots to 13.

K.C.C. BEATEN

Only one out of the three K.C.C.'s. rinks were able to offer any resistance to the C.C.C. "B". Hyde-Lay's rink won by 26 shots to 16 against H.V. Pearse's four, in which Hyde-Lay played very well. He was ably supported by A.T. Lay. Pearse was off form, and was somewhat overshadowed by his opposite skip. Thanks to K.M. Omar and J.W. Leonard, the homsters were able to get away with that margin, as otherwise, Hyde-Lay's rink would have been able to pile on more shots. Omar in particular, playing at No. 3 did a lot of damage, and were it not for him, the deficit would have been greater. Leonard at No. 1 was more than pulling his weight. Randall was off form and in A.T. Lay he found his master.

W.V. Field played an exceptionally good game to lead his rink to victory against A.E. Silkstone's four by 24 shots to 12. In this match the Cricketers found the green too heavy and were unable to get going, while Silkstone's men were also unable to give him the support as did Field's men.

C.S. Summons played so well in W. Gill's rink that they were able to beat E.C. Fincher's rink by 29 shots to 10. The Cricketers were unable to do anything right, as they found the green much to their dislike. It was going heavy and there was no weight. Fincher was very poorly supported by his men especially by Gittins and Broadbridge, while Craig did give him that measure of support.

THE INTERPORT

So far the names submitted to the interport committee are very discouraging. Only one ex-interporter has come forward. Due to inability to obtain leave, and one reason or other many of the Colony's leading exponents are unable to come forward, with the result that only 12 names have been submitted to the committee. Nevertheless, I believe a good and representative team can be got together to represent the Colony from these twelve.

There is no better choice in skip than in A. Hyde-Lay, who is at the present moment playing good bowls. There are several players to choose from for the No. 3 position. D. Rumjahn, F.X.M. da Silva and C.S. Rosselet are my fancies, and I believe the last named player is more suited than the other two due to his consistency during the present season. Moreover he is an able substitute as skip. Of the No. 2 position either F.V.V. Ribeiro or D. Rumjahn would be the proper choice while there is no equal in the selection to J.S. Landolt for the No. 1 position. All in all my nomination would be:

J.S. Landolt (No. 1)
F.V.V. Ribeiro or D. Rumjahn (No. 2)
C.S. Rosselet (No. 3)
A. Hyde-Lay (Skip).
Reserves: J.F. McGowan and F.X.M. da Silva.

TO-DAY'S GAMES

C.C.C. "A" will be playing their neighbour, the Police to-day, and from all accounts should be able to gather the two points. The Police, in W.E. Hollands have a good and reliable skip, and any danger that threatens the Champions will come from his rink. Mair's rink should also be able to prove its worth, while Logan's four are not to be overlooked.

The Champions played well last week against the Indians, and if the skips can maintain that same form everything will be smooth sailing for them.

A good game should be seen between the Civil Servants and the Taikoo. On form and paper the teams are very evenly matched, and playing at home will just give the Civil Servants that bit of confidence which may do them a lot of good. The rise to form of the Taikoo has given their supporters cause to be proud and provided they find the green at the commencement they will be at a disadvantage.

Kowloon Docks are in for another defeat at the hands of the Bowling Green. The Dockers have not yet found their right combination and form and I believe the Bowling Green will be able to overcome them without much difficulty.

C.C.C. "B" will travel across the bay to meet the Recreio. The homesters are not playing the same brand of bowls as they did at the beginning of the season. I do not know whether this is due to lack of interest or their fall of form. Anyway they will be given a good game by the Valley team, although the odds are in their favour.

The Cricketers have not been playing well lately. They are pitted against the Indians at home and despite their bad showings of late, I believe they will give the Indians a go for the points.

The Indians on the other hand play well at present. Their present standing will find favour with their followers and no matter what happens they will give the Crickters a good game. The odds are very evenly distributed.

HANTS AND YORKS ON TOP

Decisive Victories In County Cricket

London, July 30.

Hampshire and Yorkshire took full points from Lancashire and Middlesex respectively in their cricket matches which were decided within two days.

Hants attributed their victory to the good bowling of (Boyes 6 for 16) and (Creese 8 for 37). Sutcliffe scored a double century for Yorkshire, while Smailes and Bowes did damage with the ball.

The details were:—

Hampshire beat Lancashire by 8 wickets at Southampton. Lancashire 98 (Boyes 6 for 16) and 99 (Creese 8 for 37). Hampshire 143 (Hopwood 5 for 16) and 55 for 2.

Yorkshire beat Middlesex by an innings and 170 runs at Scarborough. Middlesex 127 (Smailes 7 for 72) and 172 (Bowes 5 for 42). Yorkshire 469 (Sutcliffe 202).—Reuter.

OLYMPIC RALLY PLANES

("Hong Kong Daily Press" Special)

Berlin, July 30.

Of the 152 German planes which started from all parts of Germany to the Olympic rally, 109 have landed in Rangsdorf Aerodrome, thus finishing the flight successfully. 29 other planes are expected to reach Rangsdorf in the course of Thursday afternoon, while 16 will probably be forced to give up. A plane of the Aviation School of Brunswick crashed when trying to land at Altone, and as a result the observer was killed and the pilot seriously wounded. A second accident occurred near Nordhausen Harz, where also the observer lost his life and the pilot badly wounded during an emergency landing.—Transocean News Service.

GOOD BALL GAMES PROMISED

IF WEATHER HOLDS OUT

Tulsa In Action

The exciting games that were promised over last week may be a fulfilling this week-end. It will be remembered that all games were called off on account of rain.

The genial President of the Baseball League in Hong Kong, Mr. W. C. Muir, said that if the weather kept up there would be some good games witnessed at the Causeway Bay diamond during the week-end. Owing to the unfortunate circumstances in southern China at present he could not be certain whether the U.S.S. Mindanao would be in port for a game, but he knew that every baseball fan was anxious to witness a session between the U.S.S. Tulsa and the Mindanao boys.

VOLUNTEERS TO BE TRIED

This afternoon, the Tulsa team will cross bats with the Volunteers at 2.15. The Volunteers have not, as yet, come across this kind of competition, and although they are fairly good batters, they have been able to connect only because of inferior pitching. The sailors will give them a little more than batting practice in this game.

The line-up:—

Tulsa		Volunteers
Fox	p	Bowen
Porter	c	Winglee
Dingler	1b	Costa
Wood	2b	Beltrao
Jolly	3b	Hussain
Costello	ss	D. Leonard
Helm	lf	N. Leonard
Carberry	cf	Pereira
Krommenhock	rf	Sa

AMERICANS' HARD DAY

The Overseas Chinese team will play the Americans right after that game. On the showing of the Americans on previous games, they are due for a good shellacking. The Overseas boys have improved considerably the last few weeks, and they will sure take the Americans to town.

The line-up:—

Overseas		Americans
Moe	p	Thomson
Fong	c	Allen
K. Chung	1b	Hearther
B. S. Ching	2b	Church
Kau	3b	Williams
W. Ching	ss	Mayhew
Chan	lf	Barros or Howard
L. Ching	cf	Rogers
Chang	rf	Reid

TO-MORROW'S GAMES

The first game to-morrow morning, which is scheduled at 9.30 will be a clash between the Eastern and the Overseas Chinese. As this game will be a cinch for the Overseas lads, they will probably use a second string pitcher, and in place of Moe, Kau will take the mound. The redoubtable Matty Chang will play third base.

The Eastern line-up:—

M. el Arculli	p
Lenz	c
Nazarin	1b
Curreem	2b
O. el Arculli	3b
Kitchell	ss
Kau	lf
Ismail	cf
Abbas	rf

The last game of the week-end will be between the Japanese and Tulsa. The Japanese will have to play mighty fine ball if they want to take the sailors into camp. To the credit of the Japanese youngsters they are practising religiously, and they should put up a pretty good fight, especially in fielding and bunting. That the sailors are going out to win may be evidenced by the fact that they will put Munoz on the mound instead of Fox, with the rest of the team intact.

The Japanese line-up is as follows:—

Yasuda	p
Mikuni	c
Koga	1b
Yajima	2b
Takeda	3b
Kawamura	ss
Yamasaki	lf
Amasaki	cf
Maruyama	rf

All the games should be interesting, if the weather permits, and a good crowd is expected at Causeway Bay. With the absence of the two of the leading players of the Pui Ching team, Kim and Chester King, the brand of ball put up by the sailors should be interesting.

ANOTHER SNATCHING INCIDENT

AN OLD OFFENDER

"This type of offence is becoming prevalent in Kowloon and we ask your Worship to take a serious view of it," said Det-Sub-Insp. R. Cunningham before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday when Cheung Wah-Yau, 20, unemployed, pleaded guilty to snatching a pair of earings, valued at $15, from a married woman, Wong Luk, 55.

Relating the facts, Sergeant H. Green said that about 8.10 on Thursday morning the woman was walking in Reclamation Street when the defendant came up from behind and snatched her earings. She gave chase and shouted "snatching" Her son, who was standing in Hamilton Street, took up the chase and the thief was finally arrested in Dundas Street by people standing there and handed over to P.C. C398. The defendant had the earrings in his right hand. During the chase one of the jade drops was lost.

The defendant admitted a previous conviction for receiving and was remanded 24 hours for medical examination to see whether he is fit for a whipping.

OLYMPIC COMMITTEE DELIBERATIONS

("Hong Kong Daily Press" Special)

Belin, July 30.

The International Olympic Committee held its first business sessions here on Thursday. The only business transacted by the Committee, however, was the admission of two new member states, Liechtenstein, a tiny state adjecting to Austria, and the Philippine Islands; and the election and appointment of five new Delegates to the International Olympic Committee, namely Consul Buch of Esthonia, Prince von Liechtenstein for Liechtenstein, Bargoss for the Philippine Islands, the President of the American National Olympic Committee, Avery Brundage and Prince Tokunwaga for Japan.

The question as to where the XIIth Olympiad will be held in 1940 was not discussed by the Committee on Thursday, but will probably be decided on Saturday. The Japanese and the Finnish representatives, have, however, stated at length why in their opinion Tokyo and Helsingfors respectively should be the scene of XIIth Olympiad. The Finnish Delegate von Fenkell and the former Foreign Minister Hjalmar Procope supported the Finnish claim by describing what extensive preparations Helsingfors had already made for the Games.—Transocean News Service.

ALLEGED ROBBER FOR SESSIONS

Last Year's Crime Recalled

Wong Yee, charged with armed robbery on board class IV boat No. 2094K, and with possession of a six-chambered revolver and five rounds of ammunition at an unnumbered house at Tai Long Village, Sai Kung district, New Territories, was committed to stand his trail at the next sessions by Mr. E. Himsworth at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday.

Sub-Inspector A. Kinnear, of the Water Police, C.I.D., appeared for the prosecution.

Wong pleaded that he had been wrongly accused and that he was forced to make statements by the police.

The complainant was Ng Yee master of a seaweed produce shop in Shaukiwan.

The robbery occurred in March last when Ng Yee was a passenger on board boat No. 2094K. Whilst it was sailing off Steep Island, east of Clear Water Bay, a small vessel rowed by some Hoklo men approached and ordered the junk to hove-to at risk of gun fire. Two masked men boarded the junk. Ng Yee was robbed of $270 in cash.

It was a foggy morning on the day in question and the men made a quick get-away. Later accused was arrested on information.

Chun-Shing Institute Graduation Day

and Mr. Lee Hin Poh with Dr. Arthur W. Woo, etc. Besides these named above who secured the positions through the recommendation of this Institute, we also understand that many of our graduates are holding respectable positions in various concerns in the Colony. It is a matter of great satisfaction for us to have received letters of appreciation from these firms respecting the satisfactory work rendered by our graduates. We take this opportunity of thanking the named and others for their goodwill and co-operation.

A few words as to our aims before closing this report. Commercially, we are passing through a very depressing period indeed, but that need not deter us from the efforts to bring this Colony back to its former degree of prosperity. With the merchants of the Colony who are devising ways and means to re-attain this goal, we share an unlimited optimism. In this combined task we are happy to discern for ourselves an important role—that of providing the trained workers who will assuredly be called to contribute to a greater degree of efficiency required of the business of this Colony if it is to retain its place in the competitive period ahead. Insofar as this efficiency can be assured by a practical and comprehensive training, this Institute will continue to do its little bit in the general scheme of things.

In concluding, I have to tender our sincere thanks to Mr. Hsu for being so kind as to distribute the prizes to our Patrons for their kind co-operation and support we received from time to time, to the members of the staff for their loyal assistance, and to you, Ladies and Gentlemen, for honouring us with your kind presence. Thank you!

61 P.C. INCREASE IN TERRITORIAL RECRUITS

Best Total Since 1931

STILL A SHORTAGE OF 41,000

London, July 11.

The strength of the Territorial Army has reached its highest point since October, 1931. Figures issued yesterday by the War Office show that on July 1, the total "other ranks" numbered 131,399. Despite this there is still a shortage of 41,321

During June 4,383 recruits were taken on the strength, compared with 2,856 in June, 1935. The quarter April to June this year showed an increase of 61.4 pere cent. brought about by 16,145 new recruits, as compared with 10,004 during the same period last year.

The sudden increase is attributed to:

Better inducements in pay, travelling expenses and marriage allowances recently offered by the Government.

Intensive publicity; and

Employers' increased willingness to give their men time off for drills and training.

INCREASE IN OFFICERS

The number of officer on July 1 was 7,527, an increase of 75 during the month, and 374 more than on July 1 last year. There is a shortage of 2,045 officers.

The most popular branch of the Territorials is the 1st Anti-Aircraft Division, the air defence units in London and the surounding area. In the period from March 1 to July 1 this division attracted more recruits than any other Territorial division.

In analysing the recruiting returns of each individual Command, the Northern and Western Commands stand out as the strongest. The London District is the lowest. Detailed figures are:

	June	May	April
Eastern Command	840	977	1,017
London District	392	478	391
Northern Command	1,025	1,462	1,071
Scottish Command	548	965	1,120
Southern Command	596	645	668
Western Command	992	1,615	1,343

NEW TELEVISION SYSTEM

Invention Of Two Englishmen

POWER NEEDED ONLY 250 VOLTS

London, July 10.

I saw yesterday a demonstration of television projected by a novel system on to a screen measuring five feet by four feet, writes a correspondent. Though the pictures were imperfect and shadowy, important developments may come from this line of research.

The system, known as "Scophony," is primarily the invention of two young Englishmen, Mr. G. W. Walton and Mr. J.H. Jeffree. It represents a radical departure from the method of reception more generally used, that involving use of the cathode ray tube.

While receivers using the cathode ray will need a current of 1,000 volts or more, "Scophony" receivers will need only 250 volts. The light source in a "Scophony" receiver consists of an ordinary filament lamp like that used in the headlight of a motor-car.

Another fundamental feature is the "scanner," a tiny glass bar about 1½in long, with many facets round its circumference. This scanner revolves at the rate of 18,000 revolutions a minute.

JESSIE MATTHEWS FILM

Mr. S. Sagall, managing director of Scophony," also showed me reception on apparatus somewhat similar to that which will be marketed for home use. It showed excerpts of the Jessie Matthews film "First a Girl," on a screen measuring 10in. by 8in.

The pictures were not so brilliant or so detailed as some of the best I have seen produced by the cathode ray method. On the other hand, the component lines tended to blend better, and the simplicity of the apparatus has distinct advantages.

Mr. Sagall informed me that on the home receiver there would be five times as much light on the screen, and the picture would be twice as brilliant. The screen and the picture would be twice as brilliant. The screen would measure 16in. by 12in., and the receiver would be capable of picking up both the Baird and Marconi E.M.I. transmissions from the Crystal Palace.

13FT BY 10FT SCREEN

While America is talking in terms of inches regarding the size of television pictures, the "Scophony" research staff are thinking in feet. Apparatus has been made to throw pictures on a screen 13ft. by 10ft. The bar of light which builds up the picture moves across the screen at the rate of 14 miles a second nearly as fast as the earth travels in its orbit.

PHILIPPINE MINING NEWS

Record Output For Half Year's Work

Through the courtesy of Messrs. G. A. Harriman & Co., Ltd.

Once again all Gold Productions records for the Philippines were broken, when the reports of June operations, received this week, showed that a total of P3,598,568 in bullion was shipped from the 15 operating plants. This is more than P200,000 better than the best previous record made in March of this year.

With one new plant, Big Wedge, going into production this month: one plant under construction at East Mindanao; three dredges operating on the rich deposits at Coco Grove; and several smaller operations not reported on, it is evident that estimates of P40,000,000 for the year's production will be too conservative.

The four plants under Benguet management contributed, as usual, about two-thirds of the total, P2,007,944. Balatoc was well over a million pesos; Benguet Consolidated was well up; Cal Horr and Ipo Gold maintained their usual averages.

GAINS SHOWN

The Soriano interests jumped about P200,000, to account for P808,466. Antamok Goldfields, with P526,004 coming from its mill, recorded the most sensational gain, while Masbate Consolidated, I. X. L., and I. X. L.-Argos continued at their usual rate.

Marsman and Company shipped P527,677 from Itogon, Suyoc Consolidated, San Mauricio, and United Paracale. Construction is going on at each of these plants, and bigger production figures are predicted for later months.

Demonstration's production was a little lower than in May, because of the installation of new machinery. The new washing plant is now in service, and July's output is expected to be higher.

NEW MACHINERY

Benquet Exploration dropped slightly, also because of the work going on within the plant. A new crushing unit will add to the efficiency of operations considerably.

Baguio Gold's production was about the same as usual, as was Salacot's.

Most of the mining companies are mining lower grade ore than usual, because of the continued dry weather. In this way it will be possible to mine out areas which otherwise could be mined during the rainy season only with considerable trouble and expense.

Precautions have been taken by those companies which have plants subject to damage during typhoons, and every attempt made to secure them against interruption of operation no matter how severe possible storms may be.

ITALIAN FRUIT IN LONDON

Five Hours After Sanctions End

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, July 12.

Fifty-nine minutes after Britain officially lifted Sanctions against Italy—at midnight on Tuesday—400 tons of Italian plums and peaches reached British waters.

They were sold at Covent Garden yesterday morning, and from there they were carried to all parts of London and the country to retail shops.

The fruit was shipped at Zeebrugge for Harwich on the L.N.E.R. train ferries and was contained in 34 wagons. They reached Bishopsgate station at 5 a.m.

Large supplies will now be arriving daily by this route.

Another consignment of 10 tons of plums came by the Southern Railway via Boulogne and Folkestone.

There is no news of Italian manufactured goods coming into the country, and British exports to Italy are held up pending a decision about the payment of the large sums of money owing to British industries by the Italians for goods delivered long before Sanctions were imposed.

The money for the Italian plums which arrived yesterday, and for subsequent consignments, will be paid to the Bank of England for the account of the Anglo-Italian Clearing Office.

This has been set up by the Treasury Order under the Debts Clearing Offices Act, 1934, and will enable British traders to get some of the money owing to them.

Welsh coal exports cannot be resumed until the British and Italian Governments, which are now negotiating, have agreed upon a plan for the payment of large sums of money due to the Welsh coal trade.
